CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

Mad-dogs at Herndon-Dropped Dead at Gracey-Fire at Crofton-After Walter Arthur-Cayce Case Affirmed-Various Other Matters.

Went Up in Smoke.

The dwelling house of Mr. J. A. Kennett, an aged farmer of the Crofton neighborhood, was burned Monday, together with its contents, including about $400 in cash, representing Mr. Kennett's savings for several years. He lived alone and on Monday morning, after locking the doors and fastening the windows, he left home to do some work a mile or so distant. On his return in the afternoon he found everything reduced to ashes. He had no insurance and the misfortune falls heavily upon the old man. How the fire originated is a mystery. Some believe that the building was robbed and then fired by the thieves.

Constable After Arthur.

The grand jury found two true bills against Walter Arthur, formerly a Lafayette jeweler—one for horse stealing and the other for grand larceny. Arthur left Lafayette some months ago for a hunt, using a horse belonging to Mr. John O'Brian and a buggy owned by Mr. Geo. Bayham. It seems that Arthur borrowed the outfit and never returned it. As soon as the indictments were returned a purse was made up by some of the citizens of Lafayette to defray the expense of an officer and Constable W. T. Brame left this week for Mississippi, where he believes he has located Arthur. If found he will be brought back and prosecuted.

They Were Cousins.

John Daniel, of Cadiz, and Miss Maude Cunningham, of Paducah, the youthful couple that eloped to Clarksville last Friday and married, were cousins and each was 16 years old. The young lady was on a visit to her aunt, mother of the groom, when the plan to elope was perfected. Shortly after the ceremony was performed Daniel was robbed of his watch and some cash, he claims, but the police were not inclined to believe that there was much in the case and the matter was dropped.

The Assessor's Report.

Following is the total assessed value of the property of Christian County, taken from the assessor's books, now in the hands of the sheriff:

White $8,013,736
Colored 257,392

Total $8,271,128
This shows an increase over the previous year of $172,798. The books now go to the State Board of Equalization, which made a 4 per cent raise last year.

Dropped Dead While Flopping.

Tom Massie, one of the oldest negroes in West Christian, died quite suddenly at his home near Gracey a few days ago. He fell unconscious, while plowing and was taken home, where he died in a few minutes. He was 83 years old and had accumulated considerable property by hard work and good management.

Cayce Case Affirmed.

The case of the L. & N. against Mat Cayce and wife, appealed from this county, was affirmed by the Court of Appeals yesterday. Mr. Cayce got a judgment for $500 against the company in the lower court, and the company took an appeal. The case has been pending for about two years.

"Crackled" a started Wire Fence.

A fine young horse belonging to Bob Early, col., of the Gracey neighborhood, while playing around the horse lot one day this week, ran against a barbed wire fence and was so badly cut that it is thought he will die.

Has Gone to Cuba.

Mr. J. N. Radford, father of Luther C. Radford, who left this county about a month ago, is authority for the statement that his son is now in Cuba. Mr. Radford further says that he did not see his son while he was here.

Sent to the Grand Jury.

The examining trial of Upshaw O'Brian and Jim Green, both colored, charged with grand larceny, which was held in the City Court Tuesday and resulted in both defendants being held over until the grand jury can pass upon the case.

For Forty Days.

J. W. Friedls was given 40 days in the work house for carrying a pistol. Friedls is the man who, some weeks ago, shot and dangerously wounded Maggie Wilks, of Henderson, who formerly lived near Casky.

DR. METCALFE DEAD.

The Author of "Uncle Minors' Stories" Passes Away.

Rev. V. M. Metcalfe died at his home in this city yesterday at noon, after an illness of ten days, though he had been in failing health for several months.

Dr. Metcalfe was born in McMinn County, Tenn., Nov. 8, 1832. In 1855 he married Miss Ellen Killebrew, of Montgomery county, and for many years lived near the Christian county line on a farm.

In 1863 he became interested in a cotton factory and a few years later moved to Nashville. In 1869 he came to Hopkinsville and has lived here ever since.

Dr. Metcalfe engaged in mercantile business after he came to this city and was at the same time a minister of the Christian denomination.

Subsequently he traveled extensively for implement and other houses and also published a paper for a while. A few months ago he issued a book of children's stories called "Uncle Minors Stories," which has circulated widely and is now in the second edition.

He was the father of a large family of children. Those who survive him are Messrs. Chas. W. Metcalfe (of Princeton), Geo. W. Thos. L. and John J. Metcalfe and Mrs. A. Hille, of this city. Mrs. Metcalfe also survives her husband.

Dr. Metcalfe was a man of great piety and of exemplary christian character. He was a member of the distinguished Metcalfe family that has furnished a Governor to Kentucky and was related to many of the best families of Kentucky and Tennessee.

The funeral services will be held this morning at 10 o'clock, at Hille's Chapel, the little church in the Seventh ward he assisted in establishing a few years ago.

LATER—Funeral at the Tabernacle.

UNCLE BEN COLEMAN.

Death of the Venerable old Bachelor at Herndon.

Herndon, Ky., Mar. 12.—Mr. Benj. Coleman died at his home here yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, aged 81 years and seven months. He had been sick for ten days and died of heart trouble.

Mr. Coleman was an old bachelor, and lived alone for many years. Since he grew old one of his nieces, Miss Mary Ball, had made her home with him. The old gentleman had four brothers, two half-brothers and two half-sisters, but he cultivated all but one of them. One brother, Abe Coleman, of Montgomery county, Tenn., is the last survivor of the family.

"Uncle Ben," as everybody called the good old man, was not a church member, but he was a man of the strictest integrity and the best of character. His home was noted far and wide for its hospitality and was a favorite stopping place for preachers of all denominations.

His funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at his residence, the pastor of the Methodist church at Lafayette officiating, and the body was taken to Clarksville for interment.

Mr. Coleman leaves a handsome estate, consisting of a fine farm of 600 acres, personal property, notes and money.

Wholesale Dog Slaughter.

Herndon March 12.—Considerable excitement was created here this morning by the report that a rabid dog had been seen in our town last night and had bitten several dogs belonging to parties in town. Work was begun early to exterminate the dogs supposed to have been bitten by the rabid canine. Among those killed was a very fine English setter belonging to Joe Paes, also Capt. Dawson's bird dog "Dan" which was said to be the finest dog in South Christian. Up to this hour there has been 16 of our town dogs killed among them quite a number of worthless curs and terriers which will be a source of satisfaction to the community at large.

Sheep-Killing Dogs' Work.

Cadiz, March 12.—There is great complaint among the farmers of this section concerning the loss of sheep by dogs recently. Last week Mr. Lindsay Freeman had 20 killed; about the same time Mr. Thomas McAtes lost 8 head by the same route, and Gordon Alexander is short 8 as a result of the canine depredations of the week. Numbers of other farmers have lost more or less by the ravages of these curs.

Counterfeiter Convicted.

Thomas Mison, charged with making and circulating counterfeit money in Clarksville, was tried Tuesday and a verdict of guilty was rendered. Mison was given three years in the penitentiary.

A Youthful Rapist.

Bill Reed, a 12-year old negro boy, of Clarksville, has been sentenced to a term of 10 years in the penitentiary, on a charge of rape.

TIT FOR TAT.

Kaufman Unseated and Two Senators Are Ousted.

Stirring Times at Frankfort and a Fight Narrowly Averted.

SESSION WILL END NEXT TUESDAY.

Frankfort, Ky., March 12.—Wood Dunlap did not appear to-day and the Republicans were much chagrined. All their scheming went for nothing. No trouble occurred. The House and lobbies were cleared of all but members. Dr. James and Dr. Walton were in the House but their names were not called. Lieut. Governor Worthington again ruled that 70 votes are necessary to a quorum. The Republicans refused to vote.

The Democrats were absent this afternoon over the railing of the President. The ballot showed; Blackburn 51, Carlisle 12 and Buckner 1.

Frankfort, Ky., March 11.—Both houses met at 10 o'clock this morning, but in the House especially there seemed little aim of purpose.

The first question was on the adoption of the minority report unseating Kaufman and seating Dunlap. The Republicans voted at the start for the adoption of the minority report without exception till Coffman asked to be passed.

Coffman was the only man who did not vote. The report was adopted by a vote of 49 to 46. The final vote was then on adoption of the majority report as amended by this minority unseating report. All the Democrats left the House. The ladies left the lobbies. Mr. Poor stayed in, and fifty-one men were present. Mr. Kaufman was unseated.

In a minute the wildest scene excited all over the Statehouse. The Senators crowded together in the middle of the Senate Chamber while a mad mob crowded every entrance. They yelled their votes unseating James and Walton.

Three minutes later a mad mob was at the door of the House declaring that James and Walton should not vote in there. It was fifteen minutes before 12. In the mob were several men with their hands holding pistols in their pockets. Standing at the door were men to attempt to bring the two unseated Senators through were Jack Chinn, Jim Williams, Senator Bronston, H. L. Martin, Walter Sharp and others, while with determination, and headed by Senate Doorkeeper Tyler.

JAMES HAD SLIPPED IN.

Senator Blackburn was in the crowd counseling coolness. The crowd was mad when they learned that James had already slipped into the House and had done so while unseating him in the Senate. Chief of Police Tobin and several officers were in the crowd. Men and women by the hundreds rushed from the building and the square when the bells told that the unseating in the Senate had been done, and the mob began gathering at the House door.

SCENE IN THE SENATE.

Frankfort, Ky., March 11.—No man will ever be able to describe the scene in the Senate the minute after the House unseated Kaufman and whilst James and Walton were being unseated. The Lieutenant Governor was ignored, the clerk put motions. The former raked his gavel and k.f. his chair.

The Democratic Senators yelled their votes like commanding officers giving orders in the midst of battle. Senator Holloway left the chamber, and threatened by his manner every Democrat who tried to make him go back. When the clerk yelled the result of the vote on the motion to unseat the Senators broke with the regularly-appointed Deputy Doorkeepers to the House door and the crowd roared like a mob.

The real danger was that an attempt would be made to bring James from the House into which he had slipped while being unseated. He promised some one that he would not try to vote till a further settlement of the matter. Soon the only people to hold the door were Bob Tyler and the men and Capt. Jack Chinn, his temporary deputy, on the outside. When things calmed a little it could be seen that Capt. Chinn's demonstrations to draw a weapon were only made when the mob pressed too hard at first, and that when he started to draw, those around him attempted to protect him, and also prepared to fight.

The coolest man on the outside was Chinn, the prot. deputy doorkeeper. He made no mistake about refusing admission to those who had a right to go in, and followed the directions of Capt. Tyler from the inside.

Some idea of the never-before-seen sight can be had when it is said that on the inside even Senator Goebel lost his urbane manner and yelled his defiance at Blanford. A few determined Republicans, or the attempt of Walton to force his way in, would undoubtedly have caused bloodshed.

But it is all over now. Neither James nor Walton will get into the joint assembly to-morrow, unless they go before the Senate does and are let in by the Republican doorkeeper of the House.

IN THE JOINT ASSEMBLY.

Frankfort, Ky., March 11.—After a debate over which speaker should call the roll, Lieut. Gov. Worthington ruled that the Senate clerk should call the Senate roll and the House respective Houses should be read, do what was right. The chief clerk in calling the names of the members of the Senate omitted to call that of Blanford, who had been unseated by the Senate majority a few minutes before going into joint assembly.

The roll of House members omitted to call the name of Kaufman (Dem.), who had been unseated. The roll showed 130, with two pairs. Bronston asked for the reading of the journals of the two Houses. He made the point that under the Federal Statute the journals of the respective Houses should be read, but agreed that the journal of the joint assembly be dispensed with. The Clerks of the Houses then read the journals of their respective Houses.

The ballot for Senator was then begun. Senator Elliott voted for Carlisle, as did Holloway, Noe, Salter, Stephenson, Carroll, Rice, N. N. Speight, Violet and Walker. Edgington voted for Blackburn, while Poor and Chinn were absent.

P. C. Smith voted for S. B. Buckner. The names of James, Walton and Kaufman were not called. The Republicans refused to vote, and the object of breaking a quorum. An exciting scene occurred just before the vote was announced. The call of the Senate roll was made by the clerk (Rep.), who had been absent, arose and started to vote. Speaker Blanford shouted to him to sit down and the exciting events of the day, which are without precedent in Kentucky, or probably in any other State, were at an end.

As soon as the House adopted the minority report, which declared Dunlap entitled to the seat of Kaufman, the news reached that gentleman, he at once arose, and read his resignation, and said he would decline to qualify. "I am in the power of the House," he said, "and it is the right to arrest me and take me in charge. I would make no resistance to such a request."

The chair decided that as only sixty-five votes had been cast he declared that there was no quorum, and, therefore, no election. Upon motion the assembly adjourned at once, and the exciting events of the day, which are without precedent in Kentucky, or probably in any other State, were at an end.

As soon as the House adopted the minority report, which declared Dunlap entitled to the seat of Kaufman, the news reached that gentleman, he at once arose, and read his resignation, and said he would decline to qualify. "I am in the power of the House," he said, "and it is the right to arrest me and take me in charge. I would make no resistance to such a request."

Hon. St. John Boyle, the Republican nominee for Senator, to-day received a telegram from Senator John Sherman, assuring him that 69 votes comprised a quorum, and would, without question, legally elect a Senator.

Herndon Won in the Highest Court.

Clarksville, Tenn., March 10.—The Supreme Court at Nashville to-day reversed the opinions of both the Chancery Court and Court of Appeals in the case of Capt. Thomas Herndon, of this city, in a suit which involved his right to buy tobacco on the Clarksville market, from which he had been ruled by the Clarksville Tobacco Board of Trade. The case went through two courts, and Herndon lost, and was taken to the court of last resort, and Herndon won. The greatest interest existed among the tobacco men of this section.

Escaped From Jail.

A man named Hooper, convicted in Steward county, Tenn., of the murder of his brother-in-law, a man named Parker, and a fellow prisoner, whose name is unknown, cut their way out of jail at Dover and are still at large. They are believed to be hiding in the Roaring Springs country. It is understood that a reward of $100 has been offered for the capture of Hooper.

A Sufferer Cured

"Every season, from the time I was two years old, I suffered dreadfully from erysipelas, which kept growing worse until my hands were almost useless. The bones softened so that they would bend, and several of my fingers are now crooked from this cause. On my right hand I carry large scars, which, but for

The first bottle seemed to reach the spot and a persistent use of it has perfected the cure."—O. C. DAVIS, Wautoma, Wis.

ESCHOW OVERINDULGENCE.

Don't Allow Your Will to Run Away with Your Head.

Moderation in cycling is as necessary as in everything else, and particularly so because it brings into play new sets of muscles and blood vessels in certain parts of the body which are entirely unprepared for the usual strain.

The fascination of bicycle riding is the strongest objection to the sport, on account of the danger of over exertion, and for this reason those who take it up for improvement of health become so invigorated and delighted with the exercise that they who should be the most careful are generally the least so. Entering violently into any exercise is bad, and so is cycling, for the reason that it gives the heart more to do than has been customary; but, of course, by going into the exercise gradually, the heart grows stronger and is prepared for exertion.

As for the lungs, cycling cultivates a good habit of deep breathing, and does a great deal to strengthen the muscles of the back.

There is no other exercise that is so quickening to the nerves and which at the same time brings into play so nicely and so gently the many parts of the body which give violent work to some particular set of muscles.

Cycling induces those to take outdoor exercise who have never taken it before, and while undoubtedly, the exercise is taken; but let the beginner beware of overindulgence and persist in the pleasure and usefulness of moderation.

A MECHANICAL HORROR.

The Floor of the Day Struck Off by Grinding Skeletons.

"Machinery is a monthly journal published at Johannesburg, South Africa. In a recent number is an account of a most remarkable clock belonging to a Hindoo prince, which the editor thinks the strangest piece of machinery in India. Near the dial of an ordinary-looking clock in a large gong hung on the wall, while underneath, resting on the ground, is a pile of artificial skulls, ribs, legs and arms, the whole number of bones in the pile being equal to the number of bones in 12 human skeletons. When the hands of the clock indicate the hour of one, the number of bones needed to form a complete human skeleton come together with a snap; by some mechanical contrivance the skeleton springs up, seizes a mallet and, striking up to the gong, strikes one blow. This finished, it returns to the pile and again falls to pieces. When two o'clock, two skeletons get up and strike, while at the hour of noon and midnight the entire heap springs up in the shape of 12 skeletons and strikes, each one after the other, a blow on the gong, and then fall to pieces, as before.

SLEPT ON THE "SIDEBOARD."

A Green Countryman's First Experience with a Fading Bed.

An old, gray-whiskered man, who had lived all his life in a small farm near Batavia, stopped at the hotel the other evening, says the Buffalo Express. He said he wanted a room for one night. He was sent up to the third floor. Later in the evening he went out, and did not come back till midnight. He had evidently been enjoying himself. His breath smelled of whisky. He went up to his room, and that was the last we heard of him until early in the morning, when a boy went to call him for his train. The boy got no answer when he knocked on the door, and he opened it and walked in. The folding bed had not been let down. The boy had to look about for a moment or two before he discovered the old man. Then he heard a husky voice from up under the ceiling somewhere. He looked up, and there was the guest curled up on top of the bed, rubbing his eyes and was fully dressed, with the exception of his big cowhide boots, which were standing on the floor.

"Say, mister," inquired the boy, "why didn't you get into bed?"

"[Yegh]," shouted the man, angrily, "there ain't no bed. Here I've been sitting all night without a wink of sleep. Ain't this a nice way to treat a man? Hey?"

INDIANS COPY CUSTOMS.

They Follow the Lines Marked by White Men.

The Alaska Indians, after learning many of the vices of white men, soon begin to live like them as far as possible and convenient, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. Their one-story huts soon give way to two and three-story structures, and instead of building better skeletons wherever there's a clearing, they erect their dwellings in straight rows, carefully observing the building line.

When Indians who come back from the states spread the news that the houses of the white men in big cities were all numbered, the fashion of numbering their own houses spread like wildfire. The Indians would pay no attention to the numerical values, but would select some number that pleased them.

The first house in the Indian quarter of St. Louis is numbered 200, while the one next door is 400, the third 600, and then 800 and 1200. The numbers which are most generally popular are those which end in the two noughts.

In despair they broke an oar, and one sw

ORDINANCE.
Be it ordained by the Board of Council of the city of Hopkinsville,
Kentucky, That each and every Life Insurance Company that does business in said city of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, shall first procure from said city a license giving them a right to do business in said city.

The license fee for said right shall be at the rate of fifty dollars per annum, and payable on or before the issuing of the license.

And that no person or persons shall represent, write, solicit or act as the agent of any Life Insurance Company, doing business in said city, that has not complied with the above provisions of this ordinance; and any person or persons who represents, writes, solicits, or acts as the
agent of any Life Insurance Company, in said city, that has not complied with this ordinance, shall be fined the sum of twenty-five dollars for each offense.

Section 2.—That each and every Building and Loan Company, or Association, that does business in the city of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, shall first procure from the said city a license giving them the right to do business in said city. The license fee for said rights shall be at the rate of twenty-five dollars per annum, and payable on or before the issuing of the license. No person or persons shall represent or act as the agent in said city of any Building and Loan Company or Association that has not complied with Section 2 of this ordinance; and any person or persons that represents or acts as the agent of any Building and Loan Company or Association, that has not complied with this section of this ordinance, shall be fined the sum of fifteen dollars for each offense.

Nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to interfere with any Life Insurance Company, or Building and Loan Company, or Association, wanting up any business done before, the adoption of this ordinance.

The provisions of this ordinance shall apply to any person or persons who has an office or place of business in said city and who represents, writes, solicits, or acts as the agent of any Life Insurance Company, or represents or acts as the agent of any Building and Loan Company or Association, doing business in said city.

Nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to interfere with any life insurance company or building and loan company or association, under the provision of an ordinance adopted on the 6th day of February, 1906.

The ordinance adopted on the 6th day of February, 1906, is hereby repealed, and all ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are also repealed.

March 12, 1906.
Approved

City Clerk.

It is not unlikely that Mayor Sutro, of San Francisco, will be proceeded against in the Federal Court for sending through the mails envelopes bearing the inscription: "Collis P. Huntington would not steal a red-hot shove."

The case of Bob Laughlin, the self-confessed double murderer, is not likely to be tried at this term of the Franklin Circuit Court. The docket is unusually large, and Laughlin's attorneys think the trial will be postponed until the next term of court.

Mrs. Z. T. Young, Jr., aged seventeen, shot herself at Morehead, Mon-prominent Eastern Kentucky families.

Mrs. Young will die.

Will Weigh Cook at Guthrie.

The L. & N. is now putting in scales at Guthrie, upon which all through coal cars will be carefully weighed. This work has heretofore been done by the scales in this city, but for reasons of their own the railroad people will transfer this business to Guthrie. The scales here will be permitted to remain for the present for local business only.

100 Cash Prizes, each $10. 1,000.00
500 Cash Prizes, each $2. 1,000.00

The first prize will be given to the person who constructs the longest sentence in good English containing no letter of the alphabet more than three times. It is not necessary to use every letter of the alphabet. The other prizes will go to regular order of those competitors whose sentences are longest. The prize covered volume containing twelve of Willie Collier's novels, which he writes a prize or not. This contest closes April 15, 1896. The prize winners will be announced on next issue and the winning sentences published. Each competitor must send in his sentences as of the same length preference will be given to the best one.
Each competitor must send in his own sentence, and no person will be allowed to enter this contest more than once. Sentences cannot be corrected or substituted after they are received. Sentences of Collier's novels are not permitted to be directly or indirectly.

Rules for the Sentence.—(No Other Fair.)
The length of a sentence is to be measured by the number of letters it contains, but no letter can be used more than once. The sentence must consist of complete words, signs, figures, abbreviations or contractions, etc., must be used. The words "and" and the article "a" will be accepted as complete words. Proper nouns cannot be used. Each contestant must send in his sentence at the end of the sentence how this remarkably liberal offer is made by the WEEKLY WORLD-HERALD, of which the contest is a co-sponsor.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN, is Editor, and it is required that each competitor send in his sentence with the dollar for a year's subscription. The WEEKLY WORLD-HERALD is issued in semi-weekly issues, and is sent nearly as good as new, and is sent in a handsome case of fine silver color and is sent in a handsome case of fine silver color and is sent in a
